Phi Sigma Kappa, with an average scholastic standing of 1.681, won the silver cup awarded by the University Y. M. C. A. to the fraternity making the highest standing for the semester. Campus club made a standing of 1.721, but since it was absorbed by Sigma Beta Xi, February, 1933, it is non-existent the second semester.

This scholarship trophy is awarded each semester to the fraternity of first rank, and the fraternity which wins it three times consecutively, or five times non-consecutively, will receive it as a permanent possession. Last spring semester the trophy was won by Delta Chi who ranked next to Phi Sigma Kappa this time with a standing of 1.536.

The average standing of men in social fraternities was 1.352, while that of non-fraternity men was 1.262. There were 1,758 men students regularly enrolled the first semester, and of this number, 345 were fraternity men. This is a percentage of 19.6 men in social fraternities. The average standing for all students was 1.378, and for all men students, 1.282.

The following is a list of the fraternities and standings for the first semester 1932-1933:

Kampus
Kernels

Well, Brother Wachs has passed on (I mean from The Kernel staff, not from this life) without tears, and without his pen! And now for a time this column of announcements and comment will be conducted by a red-head known as Sunny Day. In passing I might say that this red-head has at least one blessing for which he is eternally thankful—that he is absolutely no relation to a certain other red-head on The Kernel staff, although a few unwise persons have made the grave mistake of confusing the two.

Lexington Chapter Order of DeMolay will hold a rehearsal for the 10th anniversary of the founding of the chapter at 7:30 p. m. at the Masonic temple. All members of the degree team must be there.

Vocational Guidance

Carlton, Jane Stewart Givens, Marianna Lancaster, Drewilla Steele, Dorothy Teegarden, and Carmen Quillin.

Miss Laura Deephouse will meet her vocational guidance group at 4 p. m., Monday, April 24 at the home management house, 162 Bonny Brae. The following girls will be in her group: Annie Mae Davidson, Catherine Drury, Virginia Edwards, Peggy Haskins, Anna L. Kines, Mattie Lee Redwine, Florence A. Rigney, Lucy D. Simpson, and Logan Van Meter.

Miss Helen King will meet her two vocational guidance groups at 3 p. m. Tuesday, April 25, at the Lafayette hotel. Her sister, Miss Willie King, will show the girls through the Lafayette hotel plant.

Scabbard and Blade will hold a meeting at 7:15 p. m. Monday, April 24, in Alumni hall. All members are requested to be present.

Stroller Spring Production to Be Presented
Woodland Auditorium May 1, 2

Margaret "Babe" Brown and Paul Williams have been selected to play the leads of "Hosesses Are Romantic," the Stroller spring production centered around the Kentucky Derby. The revue will be produced the week of the Derby, Monday and Tuesday, May 1 and 2, at the Woodland auditorium.

The members of the cast which was announced Thursday by Director Hugh Adcock, are Henrietta Worthington, Margaret "Babe" Brown; Clay Bradlock, Paul Williams; Col. Lawrence Bradlock, Combs Blanford; Mrs. Bradlock, Nell Dishman; and Mrs. Bixby, sorority housemother, Elizabeth Anderson.

Strollers will have as their guests of honor at the opening night of the production the members of the Kentucky Racing commission who named an event for Strollers the second day of the meet in Lexington. The managers and owners of Calumet farm, home of the winner of the race, "Warren Jr.," named after Warren Wright, Jr., also will be "first night" guests of honor.

The story of the production is written in two acts, consisting of six scenes in the first act and five scenes in the second. The revue was prepared by William Ardery, former University student and member of Strollers, and Hugh Adcock.

The scenes are laid in Lexington and Louisville and the time is the day preceding and the day of the 1933 Kentucky Derby, which will actually be run on the Saturday of the week when the revue will be presented.

Included in the production are skits and specialty numbers and choruses which are interwoven with a plot of dramatic interest.

Paul Anderson.

Dean Anderson received the following letter from Representative Virgil Chapman, a graduate of the University, who also spoke at the Centennial celebration in Washington:

Dear Professor Anderson:
I appreciate so much your fine cordial letter and was pleased that Colonel W. T. Carpenter gave you a favorable report about the talks which Colonel Scrugham and I made at the Kentucky Alumni dinner in commemoration of the centennial anniversary of Doctor Patterson's birthday. Way Opened By Which U. K.
Employees Will Receive
Unpaid Salaries

(Special to The Kernel)
Frankfort, Ky., April 20—The way has been opened today by which employees of the University of Kentucky eventually may receive $195,230.51 in unpaid salaries.

In a formal opinion to J. Dan Talbott, state auditor, Attorney-General Bailey P. Wootton held that the University may apply any surplus in its account at the end of the fiscal year June 30 to payment of salaries.

A balance of $87,769.26 was revealed listed to the credit of the institution as of March 31 in an examination of state records conducted today by The Kernel. That receipts to the University before the end of the fiscal year will be sufficient to leave a surplus was held doubtful by officials here.

Whether the University will ask the next General Assembly to make a deficit appropriation to pay the salaries has not been indicated by school authorities. This has often been the practice of other state departments and institutions in the past.

In requesting the opinion, Talbott expressed fear the University might nullify attempts of the state administration to live within its income through the creation of indebtedness above its income in unpaid salary obligations.

Wootton pointed out that the school is not operating under a budget appropriation, but receives a percentage allowance of real estate, franchise, personal property, and inheritance taxation.

SAXON TO ADDRESS
HOME EC CLUB

Prof. Edward Saxon of Transylvania college, will address the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Home Economics club to be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday, April 24, in the Student room of the Agriculture building. Professor Saxon's talk will concern voice in connection with personality.

Josephine Parker will have charge of the music and there will be a general business meeting and refreshments.

According to Elmer G. Sulzer the University radio studios will broadcast the Delta Tau Delta dance, through its key station WHAS at Louisville, from 10 to 10:30 p. m., Saturday. The Blue and White orchestra will furnish the music.

The May day festivities will include a general convocation in the morning and the annual parade and May day program in the afternoon, culminating in the SuKy Gingham dance which will be held in the Alumni gymnasium. New members of SuKy Circle will be announced during the dance.

The program for the stunts and dances which accompany the coronation of the Queen will be directed and planned by the Physical Education department, and will include work by both men and women students.

In accordance with a long established custom, SuKy circle will offer loving cups to the sorority and to the fraternity which prepares the most unique float. Judges for the selection of the winners will be picked from the faculty and town people and will not be announced until after the judging.

Meat Producers
To Have Dinner

Approximately 200 guests are expected to attend the meat producers dinner meeting to be held at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday, April 25, in the Livestock pavilion. B. C. Pollock, manager of the National Livestock and Meat Board association of Chicago, will be the principal speaker.

This is the first meeting of a campaign to promote the home consumption of Kentucky lamb. At the dinner, plans will be discussed and a series of demonstrations in lamb preparing, cutting, and serving will be mapped out. Meat packers, retailers, and cooks are expected to attend the meeting.

It is a well-known fact that the finest lamb in the world is raised here in Kentucky, but it is also well-known that most of the lamb is shipped out and very little is consumed here. This campaign to increase home consumption is sponsored by the National Livestock and Meat board of Chicago, and if the campaign proves successful it is expected that a better price and a larger quantity of lamb will be the result.

McFARLAND DISCUSSES TULIPS

The results of the Junior class election for editor of the 1934 Kentuckian, which was held April 11, have been declared void, according to Horace B. Helm, president of the Junior class. The Publications committee, under the chairmanship of Professor Enoch Grehan, will select the editor for the year book from the two nominees, George Vogel and J. D. Palmer. This selection will probably be made when the committee meets at 3 p. m. Tuesday, April 25, according to Professor Grehan.

The vote of the Junior class ended in an apparent victory for J. D. Palmer, the results being 127 votes for Palmer and 121 for George Vogel. Cameron Coffman, the third nominee for the post, dropped out of the running.

Horace Helm, in a statement to the Kernel, said that he had received many comments as to whether the election had been conducted in a fair and impartial manner, and that since there were many obviously unfair acts, the election could not be declared official. He presented a written request to the Publications committee asking it to select the 1934 Kentuckian Editor for a number of reasons which were set out in the following official letter from President Helm:

Dear Professor Grehan:

I wish to refer to the Board of Publications for final settlement the recent election of the Kentuckian editor.

The facts of the matter are:

HYMN CLOSES MEETING

Declaring that she did not mind her afflictions because she felt that God was working out some set purpose, Helen Keller, who has spent most of her life conquering handicaps under which the ordinary person would have done nothing, addressed an audience of several thousand persons last Tuesday night at the Woodland auditorium.

Miss Keller was brought to Lexington by the Woman's club of central Kentucky to present an appeal for support for the American Federation for the Blind and to ask for contributions for the foundation's endowment fund.

Miss Polly Thomson, her secretary, stood by her side during the lecture and repeated her words for the benefit of those unable to understand them.

The aim of education, Miss Keller said, is to teach people how to find out things for themselves, and not to show them what they don't know.

In support of the teachers of the world Miss Keller said, "It is disgraceful not to pay the teachers their salaries; they have never been paid enough anyway, and are receiving less now. Teachers foster civilization and the nations with the best teachers will have the best civilization."

"If we used all our five senses the world would be much more beautiful," Miss Keller continued, "and we would then abolish everything that is hideous or distasteful." The program was concluded by Miss Keller joining the audience in singing, "Nearer My God to Thee."

The Shakespearean comedy, "A Mid-Summer Night's Dream," will close the Guignol theater's successful season. The play will open on Monday, May 15, under the direction of Frank Fowler assisted by Mary King Montgomery.

Jack Williams will be remembered for his work in "Journey's End," of the past season while the others have appeared in several fairly important roles throughout the current year.

It is hoped by the Guignol players that the forthcoming production will be as successful as "Death Takes a Holiday," the great Castra play which just completed a week's run at the Guignol.

HONESTY—A DECEPTION

About the time that the pinched midriffs of the Floradora Sextette were acclaimed the ultimate in feminine pulchritude—back in the dear, dead days of the early nineteen hundreds—the face of a crook was, in fact, his fortune.

If he happened to be endowed by nature with an open and engaging countenance, he could live indefinitely by his wits—provided he was reasonably lucky and didn't visit the same university twice. For universities, with their open-handed fashion for exchanging education for paper documents, which in banking circles are known as checks, have long been vulnerable as points of attack for bad check artists and persons of similar predatory habits.

If you are an average individual, you are doubtless averagely honest. It is doubtful that you are entirely honest. You probably have lied to your sweetheart, if there are such things, or, in all likelihood, have cheated on examinations; but that is no pardonable reason why you should give the registrar a worthless check for your registration fee.

Losses through bad checks become a part of the university's overhead, and overhead expenses must be borne partly by the charges which it makes for tuition. Of course the University may withhold the student's credits and deny him the privilege of being graduated until his delinquency has been stricken from the registrar's records; but that is not a solution of the immediate financial problems of the University. The student may cease matriculating and leave the campus without making good his worthless check which he gave for tuition. However, the student may have the intention of paying the debt within a year or two; but the University in turn suffers the immediate loss of that student's tuition which would go toward meeting the financial expenditures of the institution. Such financial trickery cannot be borne by the University indefinitely. Something has to be done about it.

We hope that what has been said will not be construed as pessimistic. While there is no such thing as an honest face, there is certainly such a thing as honesty. This may be due to the general economic condition of the country, but we prefer to think that it owes itself another factor—the prevalence of dishonesty among students who want something for nothing.

Dishonest merchandising is no longer profitable. Similarly, men who have sufficient general competence to be successful bad check artists will discover that they will be more prosperous and much happier by turning their talents to legitimate pursuits.

UNEMPLOYED ALUMNI

The Association of Unemployed College Alumni, whose slogan is, "from books to breadlines," recently has communicated with representatives in colleges and universities throughout the country asking support for an assembly to be held in Washington, May 2 and 3.

It is the object of the association to draw up the basis for a program of permanent remedial legislation at this assembly. It seems that it does not have any clearly defined idea as to just what the legislation is to be, but it is sure that there "ought to be a law."

The association feels that if it stages a demonstration and keeps the plight of the thousands of jobless Ph.D.'s, M.D.'s, L.B.'s, etc., before the eyes of the president, he will do something to benefit existing conditions. An academic procession in caps and gowns of unemployed educational and professional men has been planned; after which the Secretary of Labor will open the sessions.

The plan has been endorsed by Charles Beard, the historian, John Dewey, Morris Raphael Cohen and Reinhold Niebuhr who are noted philosophers, by Iago Galdston of the Academy of Medicine, and by Stephen Pierce Duggan, director of the Institute of International Education.

The association has compiled statistics estimating that there are at least 75,000 unemployed school teachers in the country; that in New York City alone, there are upwards of 5,000 unemployed engineers and 1,500 unemployed journalists; that there are 14 unemployed librarians to every position in the profession, and similar figures in all other professions.

The call for the assembly has been issued not only to alumni, but also to student governing boards on the ground that the undergraduate of today is the unemployed of tomorrow.

Employment or unemployment, is a subject of vital importance to every college student today, and if this association can accomplish the passage of legislation that will eliminate the causes of unemployment it will mean the opening of a new era for the students.

Even if it succeeds in accomplishing its high aim, it will be tremendously appreciated by college men and women. It is indeed a stupendous task, and the organization is beset by many difficulties. The first step is to get a large assembly in Washington; for jobless persons are moneyless persons, and they will find it difficult to make the trip or even send delegates. And when the session opens, the real job has just begun.

Nevertheless it is a great undertaking, and should be supported in every way possible by the students, faculty, and persons interested in college men and women and their hopes for future employment.

BLUE RIDGE

Each summer the rolling hills of Blue Ridge, North Carolina calls the student Y. M. C. A. representatives from colleges and universities in 10 Southern states. Renowned leaders from various parts of the nation will guide the thoughts of the participants and direct the conferences. In 1932 the conference theme was "Building the South of Tomorrow," developed by able educators and religious leaders. This year, with no formulated slogan, the same general emphasis will be continued, as men try together to learn how the teachings and spirit of Jesus may be worked out in individual and group life.

Included among the leaders will be Dr. W. A. Smart, Emory University; Francis P. Miller, Fairfax, Virginia, chairman of the World's Student Christian Federation, lecturer at Yale University on Christian Internationalism; Robert B. Eleazer, educational director, Commission on Interracial Co-operation; Dr. Mercer G. Evans, Professor of Economics, Emory University; Mr. Raymond G. Currier, former missionary in India, national secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, who visited the University recently under the sponsorship of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. Each of these men will, in addition to leading the conferences, conduct discussion groups and forums.

Situated in the famed health resort district of the mountains of North Carolina, Blue Ridge is an ideal location for the conferences. Lee Hall, the conference hotel, is 2,700 feet above sea level and affords an excellent view of the surrounding hills. Organized athletics include tennis, swimming and handball for individuals, and diamond ball and volley ball for teams. Golf may be played near Asheville.

At the present time, when the world's nostrils are filled with the smoke of the smoldering fires of nationalism, communism and Hitlerism, student leaders are in demand. The world looks to the students of today as the leaders of tomorrow. Thought-provoking and inspiring conferences are necessary to fire the enthusiasm of these youthful leaders. This food for thought and inspiration is gained through attendance at conferences similar to those held annually at Blue Ridge. Confidence is readily acquired by the contacts formed with the leaders at these meetings. A service is thereby rendered to all men.

Scandal Snickerings

By TINY

I stayed in Lexington during the holidays for the express purpose of gathering a load of campus scandal and dirt, but here it is almost dead line with nothing of importance to write about. There were few students who stayed in Lexington as I did and therefore nothing much happened (at least I didn't learn of much). That would be of the nature to print. I saw Kappa Alpha Theta Dot Carrel several times during the holidays. She hails from Florida. Kadee Odeyne Gill also stayed in the city over the holidays. She receives her checks from Gilbert, Louisiana.

Oh yes. . . My popularity is increasing rapidly. I received another fan letter. . . It reads thus: Dear Tiny:

Since you are so curious to know who the "ardent lover" of Miss Florence Kelly is I'll give you the dirt. His name is (the sucker she is trying to hook) Triangle H. L. Clarke.

Also, the writer of that anonymous letter is none other than Miss Florence Kelly herself. . . Truly,

"ONE WHO KNOWS."

This anonymous note was very neatly written on a sheet of pink stationery and enclosed in a green envelope. . . It made a very "striking" contrast. . .

Joe Reister, the promising young journalist, recently told me that Florence Kelly was planning an elaborate dinner for her "true love," Mr. Clarke and me. . . I later found out that she had planned to put poison in my food for mentioning her in this column. . . and without being rude to the little girl I declined the invitation.

I have just learned that the Deltas are going in mourning. . . their pet toy terrier, which bore the name of "Junior," is dead. . . The little fellow was passing his vacation in Walton, Ky., as the guest of Walter Vest. . . Vest sends word that Junior died of a broken heart. . . plus an overdose of dog poisoning.

While I'm on the subject of Deltas. . . I have been asked to announce that their dance Saturday night will be very informal. . . and that the girls will, in all probability, wear sport dresses. . . and the boys will wear sport togs or some informal garb.

Chio Mary Andrews Person is the only ette of note who did not receive a bid to the Deltaw Circus. It is rumored that her downfall from social prominence was promoted by Deltaw "Sonny Boy" Miner. . . 'tis said he was peevish when left standing at the post on a previous occasion. . . Better luck next time, Horatius!

Address envelope to the Literary Editor of The Kernel. The following poems are entered in the contest:

MOMENTS

There are moments in the winter,
That I lie upon the sand,
And I see the throbbing river
Clinging to the distant land.
And I hear the woodthrush whistle,
From his temple in the sky,
And I watch the white clouds gliding,
As they seem to pass me by.

So, the summer day engulfs me,
While I bask in lazy bliss,
On the shore that's hardly stable,
For I find a change in this—
The blue sky varies color,
And the green trees turn to black,
And I find I'm in a classroom,
And I can not journey back.

IN DEDICATION

When March with dying breath proclaimed the birth
And breathed upon that life tempest
blast,
With cords of melancholy bound it
fast,
The demons squirmed in morbid
silent mirth.
Then waiting April justly saw your worth,
Conceived in you undaunted courage vast cleared the earth.

Kentuckian May Startle Campus

Editor May Have Made You an Honorary Member of Eta Beta Pie

Here's how! gulp, gulp. Let's drink a glass of ale in honor of The Kentuckian staff before the book comes out, and causes a riot. . . On the shore that's hardly stable, picture will appear by mistake on the Delt page? The person who made this slip has mysteriously disappeared. Even Policeman Kelley has been unable to solve the crime. The Phi Deltas will be honored with a new member. . . Byron H. Humphrey, who is a lawyer by profession and a member of Phi Delta Phi. One of the freshman members of the staff who hadn't learned his Greek alphabet just mistook Theta for Phi. . . couldn't read between the lines or something. Then there's Mr. Greenfield, Sigma Xi, who will discover his portrait beautifully mounted on the Sigma Chi page.

Came a picture of Dean Boyd in a bathing suit. . . the staff became so alarmed that they tore out and took a snapshot of Rebel and petitioned the editor to use it as a replacement. The staff really isn't sissy. . . some of them merely want to graduate.

Wesley Dodge, Delt, ordered a last year's picture to be put in the year book. Then he changed his mind and had a new one taken. The new picture looked so different that the staff got confused and printed both pictures. . . that's what a year in Deltaw does for a person.

But don't get the mistaken idea that the errors weren't checked. . . some of them were actually detected.

called to my attention the fact that Sigalph Tommy "Bluenose" Clover, Biloxi, Miss, was suffering from bruises and scratches. . . Upon further questioning I discovered that my pal Tommy had fallen out of an Austin. . . Don't you think the poor fellow is lucky to be alive?

Another incident which I noticed happened in a psychology section. . . It seems that the students were being asked to give responses to words. . . One KA freshman upon being asked to give a responsive word to "Please," answered without a moment's hesitation, "Stop."

Fidelt "Red" Davis drove all the way down to Louisville to bid Treydelt Betsy Frye good-bye, at the station as she was leaving for school, but alas, Sigalf "Pooch" Mansfield had taken her to another station, and "Red" came back without even waving adieu.

After the installation of the local chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon Major Brewer, of the military department, entertained the chapter with a dinner in his home. . . the name Sigma Phi Epsilon was heard many times during the evening. . . Later at one of the battalion parades a member of the forementioned fraternity, who is an advanced military student, was passing in review with his platoon when he was sighted by one of Major Brewer's twin girls, who remarked to her mother, "Oh mother, there goes one of the Signify Excellent boys."

One co-ed remarked that she was going dressed as a clown. . . Knowing the girl as I know her, it would be a very simple matter for her to dress in that manner. Another co-ed said she would go "dressed" as Lady Godiva if she had a white horse. . . Well, Lady, the white horse won't be hard to find.

CARLSON—NOWADAY, WHAT IS TOO FILTHY TO SAY IS SUNG.

With faith you built a shrine to feeble hope,
And planted trees and flowering vines about;
In likeness to forebears of sturdy cast,
Who braved the wilderness and
From sucking mire you lifted thoughts above;
Brought light to blinded eyes con-

The charring coals of skeptic fires burned out
You fanned with care and kindled with your love.

REVELLE

Awake, my soul! 'Tis morn!
Come from that dark cave and view
the rising sun.
Cease your gloomy dreams of what you should have done.
Of mistakes in days that are past;
To beams of hope outside now open your swollen eyes.
And look beyond yourself, for toward the East there lies
A virgin land more vast Than the trodden road on which you fell. See, the sunshine!
And hark! from o'er the hills there comes a voice divine—
To service your God is calling you.
Arise, my soul! 'Tis morn!

IF EVER

When all the world goes wrong. . .
If Ever
When life seems a bore. . . If Ever When stardust melodies bring memories,
And a Paradise seems lost forever
Then go look for that lady
An O'Grady or an O'Grady
With Irish eyes dancing
That starts your heart romancing
Put on a smile. . .
Its worth the while
It slove. . . If Ever. . .

Heck, I'm No Mudder - - by Craddock

Of course it would be asking too much to have a roof built over the campus, but at least students should be provided with decent walkways. When it rains, the walkway from the C. E. & P. building to McVey hall looks like Main street in Podunk.

Students who enter McVey hall via the mudhole route pay more to have the slush cleaned from their clothes and shoes than it would cost to build a walkway to the Cow's Dorm (commonly known as the Dairy Barn). We had rather suffer from run-down heels caused by a good, hard walkway, than to suffer the agony of cronic muditis.

If no immediate remedy is found for the situation, may we suggest that students provide themselves with rubber boots and mud goggles. If you are late for class, just tell your professor that you were making mud pies, the weather man's prediction was wrong, or you fell into a mudhole. Here's mud in your eye!

The "Texas Rangers of the Air," who have to ride, fly, fight, and be soldiers of all sorts of storms—these are the heroes who combat the drug-smuggling traffic in the Columbia picture featuring Regis Toomey and Anita Page. D. Ross Lederman directs.

The tragedy of having too much money and of an enterprise that became too large for its heirs to manage is graphically and dramatically told in RKO-Radio Pictures' "Sweepings," coming Sunday to the Kentucky theater, with Lionel Barrymore in the starring role. Supporting Barrymore are Alan Dinehart, Ninetta Sunderland, Gregory Ratoff, William Gargan, Gloria Stuart, George Meeker, Eric Linden, Lucien Littlefield, and other prominent players. John Cromwell directs.

Heralded as one of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's most ambitious productions of the year, "The White Sister" will open Sunday at the Strand theater, with Helen Hayes and Clark Gable co-starred for the first time in their respective careers. Victor Fleming directs.

"You wouldn't think," said the Mississippi youth, "that my musical talent was the means of saving my life."

"No," remarked his friend, "I would not. Till me how it happened."

We Guarantee Satisfaction or Your Money Back

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By DELMAR ADAMS

After all the tributes paid us in recent press boxes, we are at a loss for sufficient words to express our pleasure at making our first official debut as writer of this column. We are inaugurating a new regime and will try to make this sheet better than it has ever been.

If at any time any of you readers have any comments to make, or any contributions to make, let us have them. We will try to publish all your letters if they are not too long and if they are signed. (No anonymous missives will be used.)

Our persistent efforts to draw attention to the need for improvement in the track out on Stoll field at last drew some attention. It was rolled and raked several weeks ago and will be rolled again. First hit for us! But the work done is not nearly enough. The teams coming from other school to compete with the Cats are surprised at the poor track, but complimented the other equipment possessed by the University. Between now and next season something should be done to improve the track.

It is not impossible to improve the track. It can be done even with depression conditions existing. If a portion of the stadium collapsed, would the University fix it? They most surely would, and the track is in exactly the same condition as the stadium would be in if it should crumble at a certain point. The Athletic association is to be commended for providing good equipment for all the sports engaged in by the University. But if the public and the athletic council is made track conscious, then a good track will come.

This season's track team promises to be one of the best in recent years and should cause an awakening in interest among the student body and among local sports enthusiasts. Coach Shively has a very well balanced team. An aggregation that possesses capable men in almost every event. The Cats placed in every event save the 440 in the meet with Vanderbilt last Saturday and only a wet track kept Foster from scoring in that event.

Several men were lost to the track team this year through graduation and Shively was forced to seek replacements. One of the men who reported was Doug Parrish, the red-headed flash from Paris. Doug is practically a one man track team in himself. He runs the sprints, and does it well enough to defeat almost any dash man in the South. In addition to his work in the sprints, he does the low and high hurdles and the pole vault. He also can broad jump and high jump, if necessary, but no one man can compete in so many events and do justice in them all. Kercheval, who last year was a sensation in four events, has confined his attention to the broad jump and javelin throw this season and promises to become a threat in both events. Parrish is a great attraction and the crowd should be much larger Saturday.

Despite weather conditions last week, the attendance at the Vanderbilt meet was very discouraging. Hardly two hundred persons braved the drizzling rain to watch the Cats snatch a tight meet from the visitors. With free admission and the attraction provided by the competition of two great track squads like the Wildcats and the Georgia Tech teams, a crowd large enough to fill the stadium should turn out. Saturday afternoon is usually free for the majority of students and there is little else to do. Every student should turn out and let the track squad see that the University of Kentucky is not a one or two sport school, but is well balanced in sports ideals as well as in other lines.

Coach Downing's tennis team, back from a trip which included Alabama, Tulane and Emory universities, enjoyed hard luck, but the foes of the Blue and White racketeers had the advantage of having used the outdoor courts practically all winter. The Cat courtmen have worked out but once or twice out of doors this year, having done all their conditioning indoors and have not yet accustomed themselves to an outdoor playing surface.

When we finish our career as a columnist everyone will be as glad as Mr. Johnson said his friends were. Many are sorry to hear that we will run this column from now on. To name a few, Dr. Kelly, our English prof; Dr. Tutthill, our history prof; my girl (if any); all the students of the journalism department, assistant news editor Ed Shannon, and many others.

CAT TRACKSTERS WIN FROM VANDY

Wet Track Hinders Runners, But Blue Thinlies Show Power in Winning 64½ to 52½

By JOE QUINN

Making their first appearance of the season and performing for the most part in a driving rain, the Wildcat track squad led by Doug Parrish, conquered the Vanderbilt Commodores 64½ to 52½, last Saturday afternoon on Stoll field.

With a soggy track and a cold wind handicapping them, the Cats looked very impressive to the small group of fans who witnessed the meet. The main attraction of the afternoon was the manner in which the red-thatched Parrish piled up points to swell the Blue total.

Vandy's vaunted mile relay team fell victims to the Kentucky quartet, composed of Foster, Parrish, Johnson and Cassidy, all football men. This victory was the crowning glory of the afternoon as the Commodores have always had an impressive mile relay team.

CATS FACE TECH TEAM SATURDAY

Blue Track Squad, With Win Over Vandy Last Week, Is Favored To Win From Georgia Team

By J. B. WELLS

Coach Bernie Shively's Wildcat track team which opened the season last Saturday, by defeating the Vanderbilt Commodores, will meet the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock on Stoll field.

Very little is known of the strength of the Yellow Jacket's as they are making their initial appearance of the season. Last year the Tech boys subdued the Wildcats by a score of 80 to 51. Few of the members of the team graduated, and according to the showing displayed last year, the Georgia team will present a strong aggregation.

Last year Galloway starred for the Yellow Jackets by winning the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes. He ran the century in 10.1. He is back this year and is expected to trouble the Cats again in the class Saturday. Due to the poor condition of the track on Stoll field, it is not expected that he will do as well as he did last year. Along with Galloway, the Tech aggregation will include Williams who competed last year in the 220 low hurdles and the 120 high hurdles. In the shot put, Cain and Lackey will be back. Each of these men are good for a distance of at least 40 feet, and should take first and second places against Seale and Drury. Cain also throws the discus and Lackey throws the javelin. Kercheval will probably place no better than third in the javelin throw since Lackey is good for over 180 feet, and Tech has another man who does even better than Lackey.

LIEUTENANTS WILL STAY

Major B. E. Brewer recently received notice from the War department that the petitions that Lieutenants Rees and LeSturgeon be allowed to remain an additional year at the University had been approved.

LAWYERS HEAR MAJOR BREWER

Military Head Points Out Differences in Civil and Military Courts in Convocation Address

At the Law convocation held yesterday in the Law building, Major Brewer spoke on "Military Courts and Jurisdiction," in which he compared military and civil courts in their functions. Dean Evans, of the Law School, introduced the speaker.

"In civil cases," Major Brewer said, "the grand jury investigates the case and returns an indictment if the accused is considered guilty. However, in military court-martials, charges can be preferred against anyone under military jurisdiction by an officer, private or civilian. These charges must be signed and sworn to by a person who is subject to military jurisdiction and the person who signs these charges must make an affidavit testifying that he has personal knowledge of the misdemeanors or has investigated the charges and found them true."

Kyian Election Is Declared Void

4. Thirty or more students walked out when it was announced that each Junior would stand and vote, which shows that many people came to the meeting under assumed names.

5. The time of the closing of the door was not published, which was my fault.

6. The door was closed earlier than usual and several juniors were denied the privilege of voting because they were a minute or so late.

Under the present conditions, with the present feeling existing, and with the methods used by the so-called campus politicians, I feel that it is impossible to hold a fair and honest election. Knowing that the above conditions exist, I, Horace Helm, president of the Junior class, hereby ask the Board of Publications to select, as editor of the Kentuckian for the coming year, one of the two candidates, Mr. Palmer or Mr. Vogel.

Respectfully,
(Signed)
HORACE HELM, President Junior Class

"In all probability, the editors for future year books will be chosen by the Committee on Publications," stated Professor Grehan. The last meeting of the committee was held on Tuesday, April 18, and was attended by all members. The purpose of the meeting was to grant contracts for photography, engraving, and printing for the 1934 year book. The only contract that was granted, however, was for photography. The Lafayette Studio, Lexington, after being carefully considered, was given the photographic work for the coming year. The next meeting of the group will be on April 25 when a decision on the engraving and printing contracts is to be reached. It is at this time that the selection of the 1934 Kentuckian editor may be made, providing that the contract matters are completed.

At the last meeting of the committee, the selection of the Kentuckian editor was brought before the members for decision, but since the session was in the midst of contract matter, it was thought best to postpone the matter until the next meeting when the members hoped to be able to devote more consideration to it.

Brewer To Conduct Recruiting Station

Major Bolto E. Brewer received orders from the war department Wednesday to the effect that all officers and enlisted men in this vicinity are assigned to duty under his orders for the purpose of carrying on the proposed Civilian Conservation corps work.

The offices for this region, which includes approximately 25 counties, will be in the recruiting station in the Postoffice building. Colonel Koch was originally designated for the position of recruiting and examining the men, but due to illness, he was unable to continue as planned. Major Brewer will make his headquarters temporarily in the Postoffice building and will leave Capt. H. D. Schiebla in charge of the military department at the University.

Engineers Will Hear Rep. J. G. Scrugham

Colonel Scrugham is a splendid man. He has impressed me as one possessing fine characteristics and qualities that fit him admirably for public service. He has demonstrated in his short service here that he has ability, character and courage. I like him very much and he has made a fine impression on those of his colleagues who appreciate sterling qualities wherever found.

With every good wish and much appreciation of your thoughtfulness in writing to me, I am
Sincerely your friend,

Ever smoke
"whittle"
tobacco?

Well... here it is... already whittled FOR you. Granger Rough Cut is tobacco whittled right... that's one reason why it burns so slow and cool.

WHEN we started to make Granger
Rough Cut we knew that fine tobacco burnt hot because it burnt so fast. It kept your pipe hot. You could hardly hold your pipe in your hand, it got so hot at times.

Then we remembered that some folks back yonder used to "whittle" their tobacco.
So we made GRANGER just like "whittle" tobacco — "Rough Cut." It smokes cooler and lasts a lot longer. And also, you'll find it never gums the pipe.

So far, so good. Now we wanted to sell this tobacco for 10c. Good tobacco—right process—cut right. It was a question of how to do it for the price.

So we put GRANGER in a sensible soft foil pouch instead of an expensive package, knowing that a man can't smoke a package.
We gave smokers this good GRANGER
tobacco in a common-sense pouch for 10c.

GRANGER has not been on sale very long, but it has grown to be a popular smoke. And there is this much about it — we have yet to know, of a man who started to smoke it, who didn't keep on.
Folks seem to like it.
